

AMT Newsletter

Issue 26 – March 2003

Editorial

Happy International Woman's Day – brownie points to all of you who can guess when this newsletter was compiled! Sorry, no prizes for those who are clever enough – cos we're poor (or tight – take your pick). Anyhoo ... Tell me on a Sunday has finished and was a great success. The reviews were splendiferous and everyone had a fabulous time. Well done to everyone involved! Our next production in the Abbey will be Godspell which kicks off on Thursday, 27 March 2003. So get in quick and book your tickets – little birdies have told us that rehearsals are going well, and the show will be amazing.

So ... onwards and upwards!!!

Auditions – "Annie"

If you don't already know (and shame on you if you don't), our production in the Regent on Broadway this year is Annie. This show will be on stage from 7-16 August 2003, for eight performances only.

Auditions will be held on the weekend of 14/15/16 March 2003, at the Abbey Theatre.

"Godspell"

On stage from 27 March to 5 April 2003 at the Abbey Theatre.

(Matinee performance at 4.00 p.m. on 30 March 2003)

Annual General Meeting - 2003

PNOS Annual General Meeting

Tuesday – 22 April 2003

7.30 pm - Wine & Cheese

8.00 pm - Meeting

Green Room, Abbey Theatre

All welcome

Formal notification of the AGM will be sent to members shortly.

Wine Trail – Hawkes Bay

The Promotions & Marketing Business Unit are organising another wine trail, this time to the Hawkes Bay region, on Sunday, 27 April 2003. If you are interested in participating in this taste extravaganza, please register your interest either on the noticeboard at the Abbey Theatre, or get in contact with Carol Nagy (Administrator).

Thought for the Month

"It's what you learn after you know it all that counts". (Anon)